

RDC Lecture Series

No. 06

Trajectories of Development Regimes in India

Dr. Jayaseelan Raj
King's College London

Dr Jayaseelan Raj is an associate professor in Anthropology and International Development at King's College London. Before joining King's, he was a professor at the Centre for Modern Indian Studies (CeMIS), University of Göttingen, Germany. Previously, he was an assistant professor at the Centre for Development Studies, India and a postdoctoral research fellow at the London School of Economics and Political Science. He is also Fellow in the GRNPP project at the Department of Anthropology, School of Oriental and African Studies, London. Dr. Jayaseelan holds a PhD in Social Anthropology from the University of Bergen, Norway. He is also associated with the Egalitarianism Project based in Bergen Anthropology. He was recently awarded the New India Foundation Fellowship to write a book on Dalits and State in Kerala.

Prof. Dr. Nisha Thomas
The Principal

Date : Thursday, 22-08-2024 Time: 2 PM (IST)

Venue

Audio Visual Hall , St. John's College, Anchal

Dr. PRAVEEN S G
The Director , RDC